You Won't Have Her Long
written by Gail Talley

```
G                  C                              G
You didn't have to have your friends to tell me
                                          D7
That the love she once had for me is gone
    G                   C                          G
They say she's yours and for a while she will be
               D7                              G
You've got her now but you won't have her long

G7             C                        G
Don't talk too loud her love is imitation
               D7                              G
Don't walk too proud for soon you'll walk alone
G7          C                                  G
You're happy now but soon they'll hear you saying
               D7                              G
You've got her now but you won't have her long

                          C                   G
If you think you own the world you're only dreaming
                                                    D7
And you'll wake up soon and find your dream is gone
      G                C                    G
You'll find to her your heart is just a plaything
               D7                              G
You've got her now but you won't have her long

G7             C                        G
Don't talk too loud her love is imitation
               D7                              G
Don't walk too proud for soon you'll walk alone
G7          C                                  G
You're happy now but soon they'll hear you saying
               D7                              G
You've got her now but you won't have her long
```