The War Is Over
By Phil Ochs

But at least we're working building tanks and planes and a raise is coming so we can't complain the master of the march has lost his mind perhaps, some other war, this fabled farce would all be fine but now we're running out of time. i declare....