It Hurts To Know
Recorded by The Osborne Brothers
Written by Red Allen and Tommy Sutton

```
C                          G7
Today I'm here thinking about you
                                C
It seems I don't know what to do
                                G7
No way to turn the things you look for
                              F  G7 C
It hurts to know that I lost y--o--u

                              G7
It hurts to know you're with another
                         C
After what you put me through
                                G7
It hurts to start my life all over
                             F  G7 C
To start all over without y--o--u

                            G7
Someday my darling he will leave you
                             C
Just like the one he left before
                                    G7
And then you'll know how much it hurts you
                                       F  G7 C
You'll cry can't sleep and walk the fl-o--or

                              G7
It hurts to know you're with another
                         C
After what you put me through
                                G7
It hurts to start my life all over
                             F  G7 C
To start all over without y--o--u
```