It Was So Right

It Was So Right

It was so right, it was so wrong, almost at the same time.
The pain in this, a heart can't take.
No one really knows.
But, when the world rings clear, and take you there.
Til you no longer care.
You cannot go now.

It is not right for me to cling to you.
Somehow I just needed time for what was to be.
It's not like me to hold somebody down.
But, I was tossed high by love, almost never came down.
Only to land where no love is found.
And I am no longer bound.
I cannot go now.
